Coach Jedidiah McCampbell

“Since healthy marriages and families are the backbone of a healthy society, transformation for our nation must begin in the heart of each person and relationship. I’m passionate about challenging young Christians to realize the empowering grace of God in their lives which prepares and enables them to develop strong marriages and families. God has given us what we need to be transformed; we just need the encouragement and energy to know how to use what He’s given us in Christ. Coaching is a tool that God can use to help a person achieve their God-given potential and purpose in life!”

Jedidiah McCampbell has had a desire to minister to young people. During his teenage years, the Lord gave him the opportunity to serve as staff and chaperone for the Missouri TeenPact Leadership Schools, a ministry focused on teaching youth the importance of civic responsibility and leadership. This experience increased his desire to develop the leadership potential of youth in Christ.

Little did he know that coaching would become a primary outreach tool, but in 2007, Jedidiah experienced the effectiveness of coaching in his own life. From that time on, Jedidiah began to pursue coaching and started working for CollegePlus!, the organization that first introduced him to coaching. He received some coach training and began working with teens and college age students, encouraging them to achieve their God given potential especially in the area of education. During this time, Jedidiah earned an undergraduate degree in Business Administration and General Management. After graduation, he began working full time as a Coach and Educational Administrator for CollegePlus!, serving in various capacities. Their focus centered on providing young people quality and effective education. This included practical life experiences through internships and other programs, with the goal of developing godly leaders who were ready for life’s journey upon graduation.

After about 4 years, the Lord led Jedidiah to pursue other opportunities and he began exploring the possibility of starting a coaching business and ministry. Jedidiah began pursuing a Certificate in Transformational Coaching from Western Seminary, and he is scheduled for completion by early spring 2015. While working full time as a Marketing Analyst for Harry and David, Jedidiah continues to coach part time, with the eventual goal of having a full time coaching practice.

Outside of work and ministry, Jedidiah immensely enjoys spending time with his bride. They are joyfully anticipating the arrival of their first child in April 2015. They enjoy hiking, snowshoeing, cross-country skiing, chocolate, road trips, and spending time with family.
