"We are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do." Ephesians 2:10

"Her ability to listen to me and discern what I was saying was incredible. She helped me problem-solve issues with high school students and co-workers. She allowed me to come to my own conclusions and answers. Our meetings proved challenging and thought provoking. Not only did I gain the skills to deal with my situations, I enjoyed our time."

Rachel, youth ministries intern

"During my coaching with Margaret, I was better able to articulate and define my goals and state them clearly. We went through a process where she guided me to my conclusions--and not the conclusions that she thought I should make. It was a very clarifying and encouraging session."

Tom, pastor

"Margaret was personable while being professional. She helped to clarify my goals, the obstacles to my goals, and aided me in developing strategies for moving past the obstacles. I never felt as though she was trying to put words in my mouth or that she was disappointed in my answers. She always expressed openness. Her energy and joy in the Lord is contagious."

Carol, high school teacher

Margaret specializes in coaching people through transitions and new beginnings, and intentionally breaking the logjams in current situations.

The full life that God desires for each of us comes from:

- a deep knowledge of who we are--uniquely created in His image
- a purposeful engagement in those good things He has created and prepared for us.

Using open conversation and straightforward questions, Margaret creates space for you to discover your own strengths, passions, and practical action plans—to get to that full life! The energy and freedom that comes from insight and understanding catapults us into life-giving and life-changing action.

The practical application of scripture to life is a driving force for Margaret. That passion led her first to a degree in biblical studies at Corban University and later to a coaching certificate from Western Seminary. In her 30+ years of professional local church ministry, she has focused on building healthy families and community through provoking one another to love and good deeds.

Her lively, humorous and practical presentations of scripture make her a sought-after Bible teacher for youth camps and young adults. She is a cofounder of My 100 Words Workshops, which trains people to share their own stories and God's story succinctly.

Are you in transition, at the cusp of a new adventure, or just want some traction in your current situation?
